Dear Home Education Leader,

Greetings in Jesus Name! My wife, Pam, and I have coordinated the convention here in New York State for the past eight years. Having been involved in the speaker selection process, we know how important it is to get good recommendations.

It is with great delight and anticipation that I commend unto you Norm Wakefield as a conference speaker. God has given to Norm a message that is critical for our day, and also has provided a great ability to communicate that message. In these days when we are seeing the hearts of fathers being aroused, it is a blessing to be able to have someone come who can be used of the Father to draw them back home.

You will find Norm to be very easy to communicate with and a joy to work with as you plan your event. I have worked with him in three different events to date, and each one ran smoothly and has produced fruit that has remained.

If you have questions, I am glad to share more concerning our experiences.

May the Lord bless your efforts abundantly as you work to serve the families in your state.

Sincerely,

Mark Holden,
Convention coordinator
