Would you pray for us this weekend? Pray for healing and encouragement

If this weekend's marriage conference is like most there will be couples seeking to make good marriages better, others going through troubled waters and their heads are just above water, and still others who are drowning in bitterness and hopelessness. My desire and prayer is that all of them have an encounter with Christ and His Word that meets the need of their souls and marriages.

Friday night I'm sharing a new message entitled, Unfailing Love from 1 Jo. 4. Saturday morning I'll be teaching them how to view their marriage from An Eternal Perspective and encouraging them to do a Reality Check to see if they have made their marriage relationship all about themselves. Saturday evening at the banquet, I'll present another new message on Intimacy in Marriage. Sunday morning they'll be challenged with how they live out the gospel and taught how to be Anchored in Christ.

Hopefully this helps you know how to pray for them and for Alma and me as we minister at New Hope Community Church this weekend. Please join me now in prayer.

Father in heaven, I trust that you have gone before me and have been working in the hearts of those who will attend. Fill me with the Holy Spirit that I may speak Your Word clearly and give me examples that make the truth come alive and relate to their lives. Encourage and strengthen marriages that are good, deliver couples from the graceless experience of trying to love in their own strength, and heal and restore relationships that have suffered the destructive force of selfishness and manipulation. Glorify Your name through Jesus Christ. Amen.
